Letter from the Chair

In business, it's often all about the numbers.

It's true that Student Assistance Foundation's serviced loan portfolio remained strong, finishing Fiscal Year 2010-11 at $3.3 billion. And our new business lines continued to evolve and expand, drawing in a stream of revenue that we believe will continue to grow and flourish.

On our borrowers' behalf, SAF's contact center serviced 286,770 loans and fielded 162,306 calls, along with other duties managed by our processing and loss prevention departments.

In all, these business activities and SAF's development efforts facilitated the distribution of $3.05 million through a range of programs that include grants, scholarships, community outreach, counseling and training on education finance planning.

We delivered $1.25 million in Acce$$ Grant funds to students through Montana postsecondary institutions. We awarded $56,000 in Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships to Montana second, third, and fourth-year students to help cover the costs associated with higher education. Our campus outreach managers provided 61,766 services to students and families in Montana communities. We helped more than 1,000 students and families complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at College Goal Montana. And we gave foster care students the tools to pursue their dreams of postsecondary education through "A Step Ahead" College Prep Camp and Foster Care Education and Training Vouchers.

But beyond the numbers lies what defines SAF's true success – the students we help.

Amy Brown grew up in a low-income family in Eureka, without opportunity to receive dental care on a regular basis. Today, she is enrolled at Montana State University-Great Falls College of Technology and hopes to work part time at an orthodontic office and a public health clinic. She explains that transforming an individual's smile through orthodontics can bring a transformation in their self-esteem and personality – a gift that she would like to be able to provide to as many youths as possible. SAF helped Amy cover her education costs by awarding her a $1,000 Circle of Succe$$ Scholarship.

We at SAF are proud to have helped thousands of Montana students like Amy in countless ways since 2000. And we look forward to continuing our mission of helping Montana students pursue and fund their postsecondary education one remarkable student at a time.

Sincerely,

James Bell

SAF and Tru Student: Providing Excellent Service to Borrowers

Fiscal Year 2010-11 marked a time of adjustment for nonprofit Student Assistance Foundation (SAF) as we settled into the new college finance landscape.

Operation of Tru Student, Inc. – SAF’s newly formed, wholly owned, for-profit subsidiary – commenced, offering the servicing of rehabilitated loans for students who had previously defaulted. By assisting students and clients, over $300,000 of revenue was generated for the combined companies. Tru Student is pleased to provide this valuable service to borrowers, helping them to consolidate their loans, manage their money and improve their credit.

Tru Student’s serviced Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program loan portfolio at year end totaled $92 million representing 3,875 borrowers.

In addition, Tru Student, Inc. continued to explore new business lines including tuition installment payment plans, and the servicing of Direct, FFEL, and private loans.

At the end of Fiscal Year 2010-11, SAF and Tru Student’s combined servicing portfolio totaled $3.3 billion, comprised of 289,508 loans belonging to 123,153 borrowers. Loans held by the Montana Higher Education Student Assistance Corporation (MHESAC) – SAF’s largest client – represented about $1.35 billion of that portfolio.

In assisting its clients, SAF’s contact center serviced 286,770 loans and fielded 162,306 calls; the processing department handled 84,719 forms and correspondence; and the loss prevention department placed 307,958 collection and skip tracing calls.

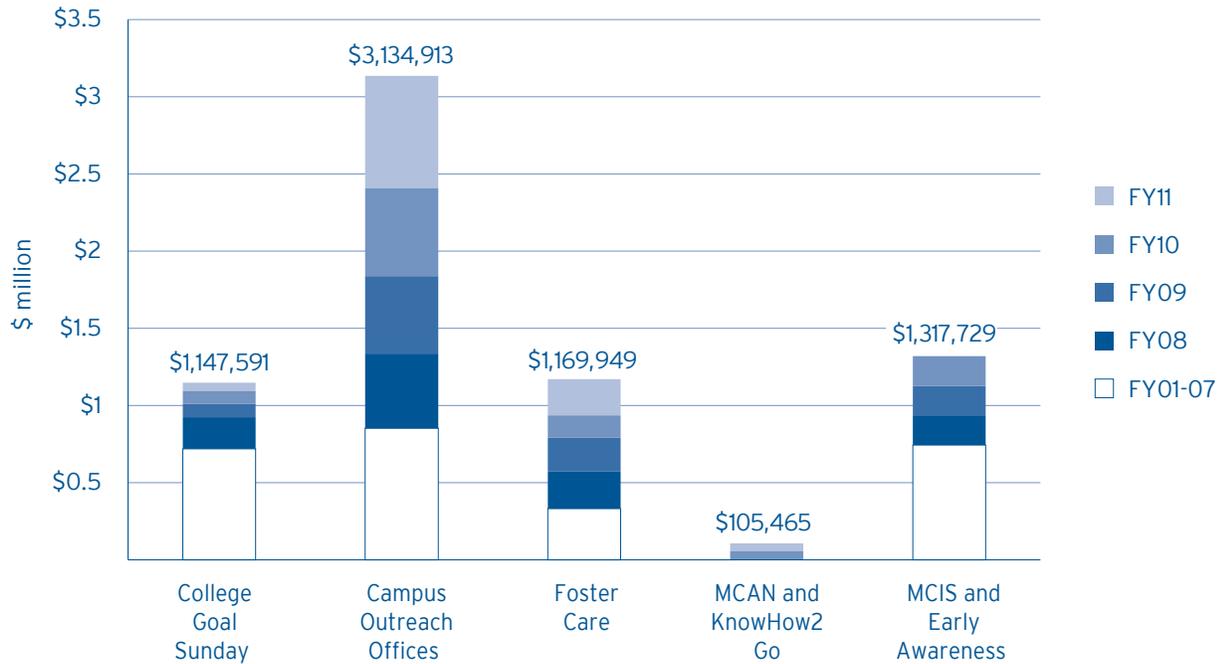

“SAF feels privileged to be able to provide borrowers with the superior customer service to which they have become accustomed,” said Jim Stipcich, SAF’s president/chief executive officer. “We are pleased that the output of our servicing business is that we can help Montana students pursue and fund their postsecondary education through public benefits including grants, scholarships, outreach and more.”

SAF Distributes $1.25 Million in Acce$$ Grant Funds to Montana Schools

Nonprofit Student Assistance Foundation (SAF) distributed $1.25 million in Acce$$ Grant funds to assist students in Academic Year 2011-12 at 21 Montana postsecondary institutions.

The grants are awarded each year by SAF to Montana students through financial aid offices at all Montana postsecondary schools, including tribal and private institutions, and two-year and four-year schools. The amount awarded to each school is determined by enrollment numbers.

Financial aid officers use the grants to help students in need pay for their education. Individual award amounts vary by student and are determined by the financial aid office.

“Acce$$ Grants are the cornerstone of SAF’s public benefit programs,” said Kelly Cresswell, SAF’s vice president of Foundation Activities. “The cost of attending college continues to climb across the country, so it’s more important than ever that we help Montana students and families make this investment in education.”

The Acce$$ Grant program was established in 2000, and since that time, SAF has distributed $9.5 million in Acce$$ Grant funds for allocation by financial aid officers to students who meet their school’s criteria.

“This scholarship has made it possible for me to attend school without worrying about the stresses of how to pay for it,” said 2010 Acce$$ Grant recipient Kylee Leidholt. “After I graduate, I would like to be able to give back to other students in the way SAF has given to me.”

SAF Awards $56,000 in Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships to Montana Students

Environmental engineer. Dental hygienist. Teacher. These are just some of the professions the 2011 recipients of Student Assistance Foundation’s Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships said they’d like to pursue when they graduate from college.

“Some people have the mindset that the world owes them something, but I believe we owe something to the world,” said Kevin Tweten, a Circle of Succe$$ Scholarship winner from Nashua. “I decided I would like to work in the environmental engineering field. I would not only be doing something I enjoy, but also something for the good of our beautiful earth.”

Tweten, who attends Montana Tech of The University of Montana in Butte, is one of 56 second, third or fourth-year Montana college students who received $1,000 Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships to help fund the continuation of his postsecondary education recently.

For the past six years, SAF employees have contributed money through voluntary payroll deductions to help Montana students attain higher education through the scholarship program. Funds raised from SAF’s annual golf scramble also contributed to the total scholarship amount.

“Each year we see requests from so many dedicated and talented students, it’s always difficult to select 56 to receive Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships,” said Darbie Hess, grants manager. “At SAF, it’s our privilege to assist Montana students in this manner – it’s an excellent opportunity for our employees to truly live SAF’s mission and make a difference for the Montana students and families we serve.”

To date, SAF has distributed $341,000 in Circle of Succe$$ Scholarships.

College Goal Montana: 10,342 Families Served Since 2005

Student Assistance Foundation (SAF), financial aid professionals and other volunteers helped 1,015 Montana students complete their Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at College Goal Montana sites across the state in 2011.

“That brings the total number of students and families served through this event since 2005 to more than 10,000,” said Rhonda Safford, state coordinator for the event. “That’s 10,000 people who have benefited from this free service that helps them maximize their opportunity to receive federal, state and institutional financial aid.”

The event was held at 18 locations on Wednesday, Feb. 9 and Sunday, Feb. 13.

In addition to providing one-on-one FAFSA completion assistance to Montana students and families through the traditional College Goal Montana sites and activities, SAF coordinated 34 FAFSA completion Webinars in communities throughout the state.

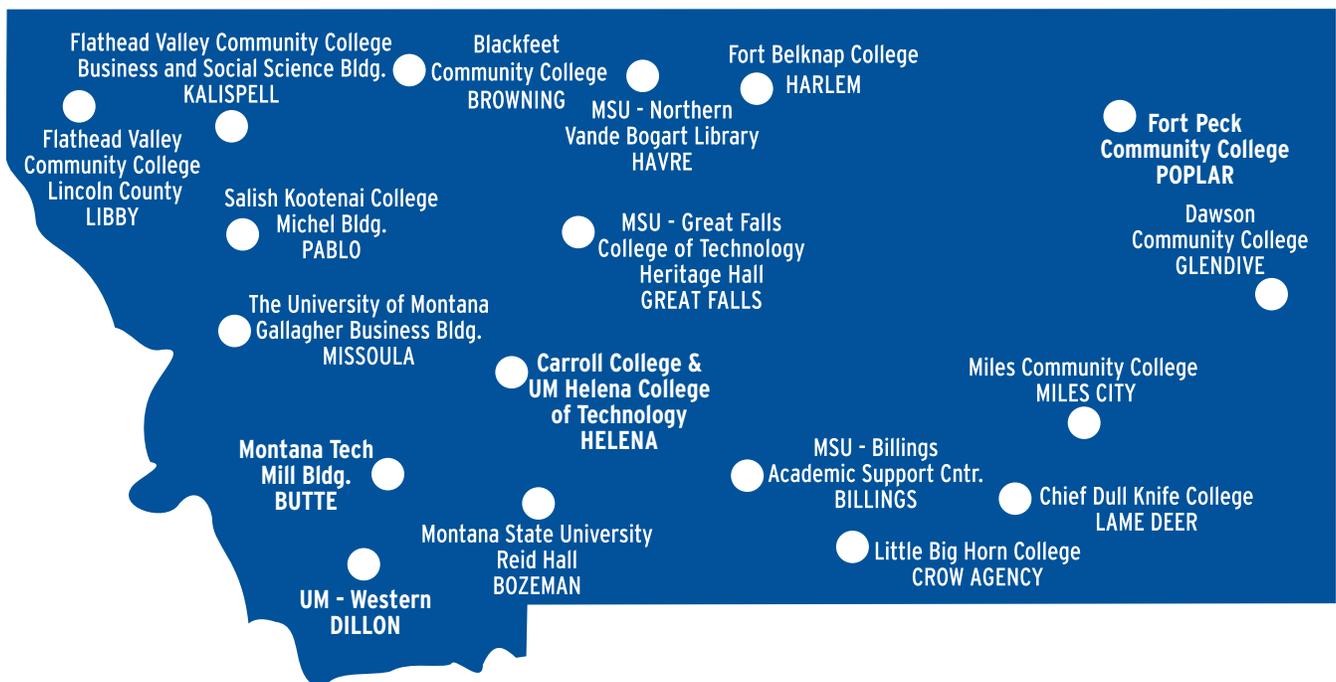

Participants in the Webinar events listened to a 30-minute presentation about the FAFSA, logged on to fafsa.gov and completed the form with help from site hosts and subject matter experts.

“By using Webinars, we were able to extend our reach to make sure that students and families in remote areas got the help they needed without having to travel,” Safford said.

More than 300 volunteers helped with the College Goal Montana events and Webinars, and donors contributed funds to support 22, $500 scholarships that were awarded to students through drawings.

College Goal Montana is affiliated with College Goal Sunday. College Goal Sunday is a national program that was originally created by the Indiana Student Financial Aid Association with funding from Lilly Endowment, Inc. and with supplemental support from Lumina Foundation for Education.

SAF Helps Montana Students KnowHow2GO!

Fiscal Year 2010-11 marked the second year that Student Assistance Foundation (SAF) awarded grant dollars to Montana community groups to help students KnowHow2GO to college.

The funds – which were re-granted by SAF from a Lumina Foundation for Education grant – were distributed to Thompson Falls High School, The University of Montana - Western, and Montana Tech of The University of Montana.

Those institutions used the grant money in a variety of ways that encouraged students to take an active role in planning their educational and occupational futures by completing activities including skill and interest assessments, career exploration, college tours and financial aid investigation.

“KnowHow2GO grant dollars have helped me motivate and empower Thompson Falls students to realize college is possible,” said Jodi Morgan, counselor at Thompson Falls High School and coordinator of that community’s KnowHow2GO Week.

In addition, SAF distributed grant funds to the Montana Post Secondary Educational Opportunities Council to help tribal schools to host their first Tribal College Fair in February, and the Jobs for Montana Graduates Foundation to host the “Inspiring Young Minds Under the Big Sky: Governor and First Lady’s Math and Science Camp.”

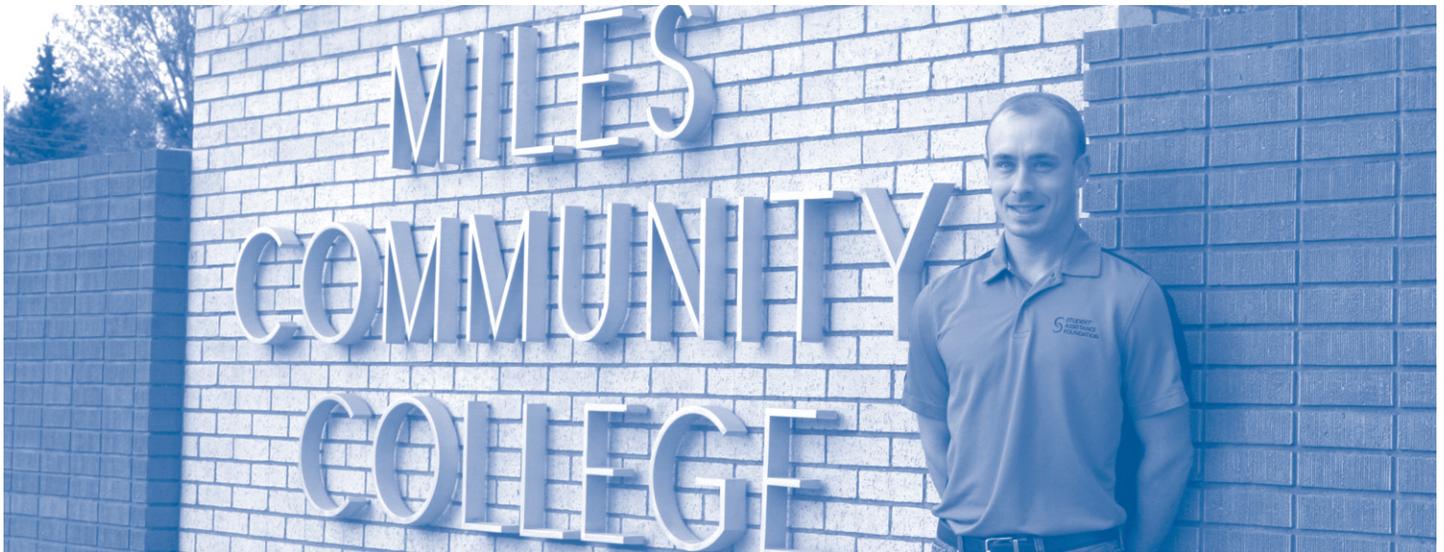

Campus and Community Outreach Offices: Helping Students Across Montana

Student Assistance Foundation (SAF) continued to reach out to students and families in communities across Montana in Fiscal Year 2010-11.

Managers at the eight campus-based offices provided services including parent and financial aid night presentations, money management tips and strategies, scholarship search assistance and more.

In addition, the outreach managers played an important role helping students and families complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) through the annual College Goal Montana program.

Campus outreach managers provided 61,766 services to students and families throughout the year.

Campus Outreach Office Profile: Miles Community College

Since taking the reins at Student Assistance Foundation's campus outreach office at Miles Community College in 2007, Josh Sloan has had the opportunity to provide one-on-one assistance to Montana students throughout eastern Montana.

By answering MCC students' questions about scholarship searches, providing pointers about how to complete the Free Application for Federal Financial Aid (FAFSA), and offering money management advice, Josh believes he is filling a need in his college community.

Thanks to the close-knit atmosphere at MCC, Josh said he has the privilege of getting to know the students and families he helps, and can follow up with them throughout their careers at the school.

Beyond his duties on campus, Josh says he enjoys traveling to communities throughout eastern Montana to give presentations to middle school and high school students about the steps to get to college, financial aid, and much more.

"It's something new almost every single day," he said. "I love the challenge and being able to see the results of the good work SAF does up close."

SAF Hosts College Prep Camp for Foster Youths at Carroll College

Twenty-seven foster care youths from across Montana spent four days immersed in the college experience in July 2011 as they participated in Student Assistance Foundation's sixth annual "A Step Ahead" College Prep Camp.

While at the free camp, the foster youths stayed in the dorms, ate in the cafeteria, and attended "classes" at host school, Carroll College.

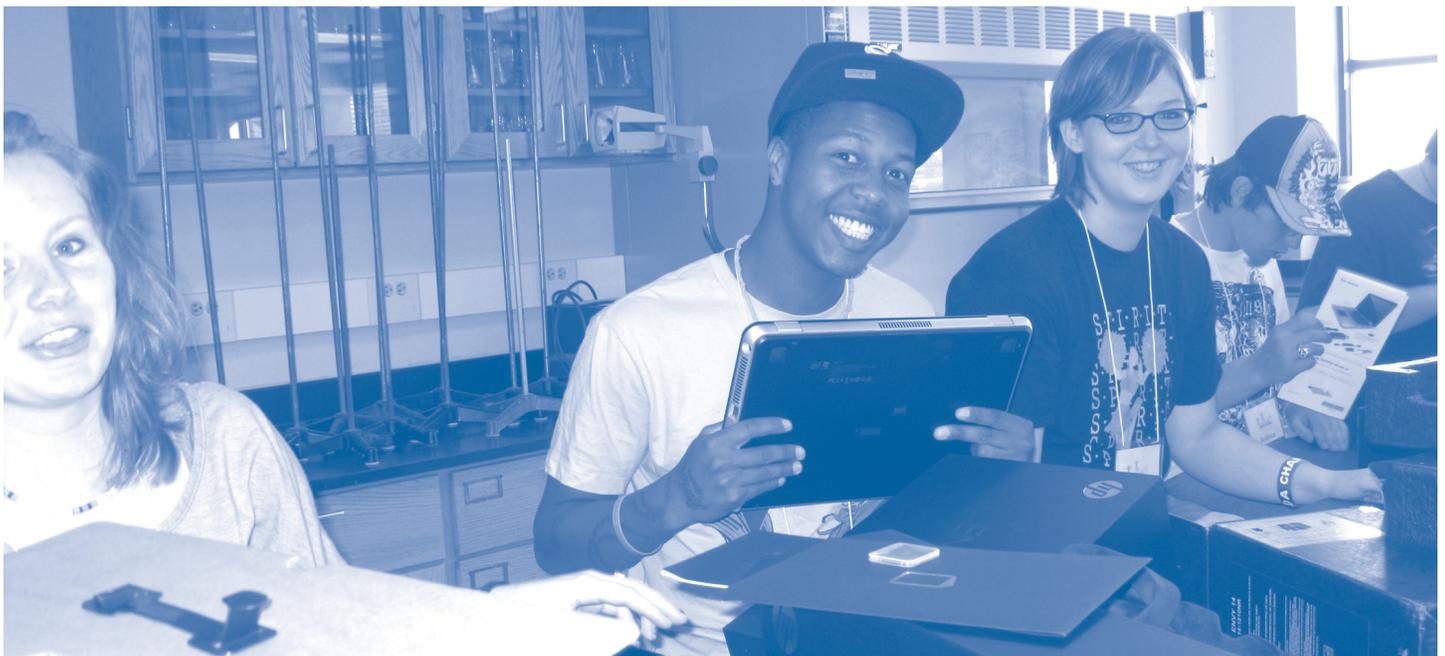

SAF staff members and community volunteers provided instruction in areas including basic computer skills, money management techniques, and how to use the Internet to research scholarships, colleges, and careers.

In addition, Rhonda Safford, camp coordinator, provided detailed instruction regarding the purpose of Foster Youth Education and Training Vouchers (ETV) and how to properly complete the application forms. Foster care youths are eligible to receive up to $5,000 per year to pay for their college expenses through the ETV program.

Between "classes," campers participated in a variety of team-building exercises and leisure activities designed to bring them closer to their fellow camp participants, and give them ideas of low-cost, safe, and fun recreational opportunities for college students.

Finally, campers left "A Step Ahead" with a free laptop computer to use as they work toward their education goals.

"About a quarter of our campers are enrolled in postsecondary education, and that number has increased by 10 percent over the past five years" said Safford. "When you consider that national statistics show that barely half of the nation's foster youths graduate from high school and only 7 to 13 percent attain a bachelor's degree, I'd say we are making progress."

Education and Training Vouchers for Montana Foster Care Youths

In 2011, 32 Montana foster care youths received funding to help cover the cost of attending a post-secondary institution through the Foster Care Education and Training Voucher (ETV) program.

The program – which provides up to $5,000 per year to eligible foster care youths between the ages of 16 and 23 – is administered through a partnership between Student Assistance Foundation and the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services (Montana Foster Care Independence Program).

Students may receive ETV funds as long as they are in good standing and making progress toward completing their program of study or graduating. Montana students must remain in at least a half-time status or the equivalent at a technical/vocational program.

Statistics show that barely half of the nation's foster youths graduate from high school, and only 7 to 13 percent attain a bachelor's degree, according to Rhonda Safford, who administers the ETV program on behalf of SAF.

A number of factors contribute to that statistic, she said, explaining that many foster youths come from families without a college-going tradition or the means to help their children pay for postsecondary education.

"Once they 'age out' of the foster care system, many youths lack a sense of direction or the financial means to support their dreams of attaining postsecondary education," Safford said. "ETV funds give them the ability to pay for a substantial amount of their education and living expenses, and create a crucial sense of independence."

ETV funds can be used to help foster youths pay for postsecondary education and associated costs like purchasing computers, paying for books and more.

Foster Youth Profile: Shea O'Neill

Livingston resident Shea O'Neill isn't one to give up...on anything.

Whether he's on the wrestling mat, or planning his academic future, the 17-year-old foster youth doesn't cut corners and he doesn't lose sight of his goal.

Given that O'Neill spent 12 years in the foster care system, moving frequently, living in group homes and with numerous foster families, such focus is nothing short of extraordinary. "I wouldn't change anything," said O'Neill, who was adopted at 16. "It made me who I am. It's a lot to overcome, but once you do, it makes you a better person...it definitely increases your desire to succeed."

While O'Neill credits coping with his unstable upbringing for building his determination, he attributes his self-discipline to wrestling, for which he has received national honors.

"I feel successful now – I started wrestling my freshman year, lost weight, got dedicated, and that helped me get out of the stupid stuff I was doing," he said. "It opened up a lot of doors and it will help me get scholarships."

Coincidentally, O'Neill's passion for wrestling has ensured his academic success. In order to wrestle in high school and college, he needs to maintain a respectable grade point average.

O'Neill thinks he would like to study law in the future – maybe become a criminal defense attorney. He said spending time at Student Assistance Foundation's "A Step Ahead" College Prep Camp for Montana foster care youths solidified that objective.

"College is huge," said the 2010 camper. "It's hard to survive in our economy without college."

Thank you donors for contributing to our success!

Thanks to your support, Student Assistance Foundation was able to help more students attain their dreams of postsecondary education than ever before! Thank you to all of our employees and board members who live our mission through the work they do every day, and through the generous monetary contributions they make to our important programs.
